Press release

Police Simulator: Patrol Officers

Go out on patrol in nine more languages!

Duesseldorf/Germany, July 27, 2021 – Since its release on June 17, 2021 Police Simulator: Patrol Officers by Aesir Interactive und astragon Entertainment has already gotten lots of positive feedback from the player community, accompanied by many great ideas and suggestions for future content. One of the most fervently asked for features: More languages! A wish, that the developer team is more than happy to grant with today's new update! While the voice-overs will remain in English to suit the game's US American setting, virtual cops can now also go on patrol in French, Italian, Spanish, Turkish, Polish, Brazilian Portuguese, Russian, Korean and Japanese with localized UIs and subtitles!

Police Simulator: Patrol Officers which is still in early access on Steam™, will be regularly expanded by updates that will add interesting gameplay features, new tasks and districts. The last Background Check update brought in a completely new district, Downtown, with five more neighborhoods, the Gladiator 6 SUV as the game's second police car, and a police computer which can be used to query background information on suspicious persons or vehicles.

Fans of the game will be able to subject upcoming content expansions to extensive beta tests on Steam™ before their final release, and thus help directly with their development and refinement. Information on exactly how the beta test works, and what players have to do to take part, can be found here. The official Police Simulator: Patrol Officers Roadmap offers a precise overview of all upcoming content.

Police Simulator: Patrol Officers is available for PC via Steam™ and the official astragon homepage for 19.99 Euro/USD 24.99/17.99 GBP (RSP). The game is supported by a game-grant of the German funding body FilmFernsehFonds Bayern.
