Duesseldorf/Germany, September 10, 2020 - Liftoff: Drone Racing published by astragon Entertainment and developer LuGus Studios is heading towards its release on November 10, 2020. In addition to a gripping single player campaign, the fast-paced drone race simulation comes with a challenging multiplayer mode, in which up to six players get to compete in different game modes.

Liftoff: Drone Racing will be released on November 10, 2020 for PlayStation®4 and Xbox One. Whether in classic racing, freestyle or multiplayer mode, future pilots can definitely look forward to a thrilling experience with manifold fast-paced races.

The latest trailer for Liftoff: Drone Racing shows exciting duels in multiplayer mode for the very first time.

The multiplayer will be playable for up to six pilots. In three different modes players will compete against each other and get the maximum performance out of their respective drones. The classic races for example are all about reaching the finishing line as the first pilot. Whether in a forest, on a construction site or in an underground car park, on 12 unique maps with five different tracks each, every race is a brand-new challenge.

Just as action packed as the classic race is the Infinite race. Pilots do not compete directly against each other in these types of races but fight for the best lap time individually in order to be victorious in the end. An integrated leader board allows you to compare your lap times with other pilots around the world.

Not only races can be played together with other players. In Freestyle mode, up to six players can test the limits of the drones. Daring tricks and manoeuvres can be flown in this mode without any time pressure.

Liftoff: Drone Racing will also be part of the EGX Digital x PAX Online digital showfloor. Visitors of the event should definitely not miss out the official panel of astragon Entertainment. On September 15 at 3:05 p.m (BST)/8:05 a.m (PT). Here, viewers can discover unique gameplay footage of the fast-paced drone racing game and gain some further insights into the development process of this exceptional simulation game by Belgian developer LuGus Studios.

Liftoff: Drone Racing will be available on November 10, 2020 for PlayStation®4 and Xbox One. The Liftoff: Drone Racing Deluxe Edition for PlayStation®4 will be available for 34,99€/34,99$/29,99£ (RSP). The game will also be offered as a digital download on PlayStation®4 and Xbox One: The Standard Edition at a price of 34,99€/34,99$/29,24£ and the Deluxe Edition at a price of 39,99€/39,99$, 33.49£. The Deluxe Edition offers four exclusive drone skins.
